Excerpt from The Mahabharata of Krishna-Dwaipayana Vyasa, Vol. 9: Translated Into English Prose From the Original Sanskrit Text Senajit said, What is that intelligence, what is that penance, O learned Brahmana, what is that concentration of mind, O thou that hast wealth of asceticism, what is that knowledge, and what is that learning, by acquiring which thou dost not yield to sorrow? The Brahmana said, Behold, all creatures, - the superior, the middling, and the inferior, - in consequence of their respective acts, are entangled in grief. I do not regard even my own self to be mine. On the other hand, I regard the whole world to be mine. I again think that all this (which I see) is as much mine as it belongs to others. Grief cannot approach me in consequence of this thought. Having acquired such an understanding, I do not yield either to joy or to grief. As two pieces of wood floating on the ocean come together at one time and are again separated, even such is the union of (living)...
