Not illustrated. 1868 Excerpt: .Social Science Congress in 1866, f also to the calculations of the Principal of Salyt Training College as to Birmingham. Also he objects to the statement of the London Diocesan Board of Education, that in the metropolis there are 150,000 children either without the means of education or not using it. But after making all his corrections he concludes that there are 500,000 children whose education is wholly unprovided for, and another 500,000 only imperfectly provided for, and therefore requiring improvement. Mr. Fraser comes to the task with a great experience, and when we consider that his calculation of the 1,000,000 children he admits as being either without educational means, or with imperfect ones, was arrived at on the basis of the school age being from 4 to 12, and the duration of school life for each child 6 years only instead of 8 (from 6 to 14), then his result of 2,625,000--the number of children requiring education--comes out. But, surely such a school age, and such a school Vide Times newspaper, April 16,17, 18,1868. t National Education, by the Right Hon. H. A. Bruce, M.P. life duration cannot be held sufficient to teach and train a child for effective service in the world. What teaching before 7 will be remembered in after life? and what good habits or useful education will be effective if a child leave school at 12? Experience and science (physiology) teach us that 14 is a more rational, though too...
